DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claim 5 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim may not depend from another multiple dependent claim, and a multiple dependent claim must depend from previous claim in the alternative only. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claim 5 has not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Akhmetov et al. (Chemistry and Technology of Fuels and Oils, vol. 37, No. 5, September/October 2001).

The one-year grace period of § 102(b) is measured from the U.S. filing date (not the foreign priority date). See MPEP 2133. Therefore, the 102(b) date of the present invention is measured from January 30, 2003 (the date of entry into the national stage), and the reference qualifies as prior art under § 102(b)

Akhmetov et al. discloses a catalyst made by combining  $\text{ZnF}_2$ , a zeolite and aluminum oxide binder (i.e., inorganic matrix). See page 347, the third full paragraph, and page 352, last paragraph.

Art Unit: 1755

The reference does not disclose that the catalyst is “for fluidized cracking of a heavy hydrocarbon oil.” However, this is a statement of intended use, and MPEP 2111.02 states:

During examination, statements in the preamble reciting the purpose or intended use of the claimed invention must be evaluated to determine whether the recited purpose or intended use results in a structural difference (or, in the case of process claims, manipulative difference) between the claimed invention and the prior art. If so, the recitation serves to limit the claim. [MPEP 2111.02 (Citing In re Otto, 312 F.2d 937, 938, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963))]

No structural difference can be discerned between the prior art and the instant invention.

The claim limitation that the “fluoride salt of a divalent or trivalent metal is a compound showing an XRD pattern of a fluoride salt of a divalent or trivalent metal” is met by the reference for the reason that all solid materials will exhibit a pattern. The pattern may not show any peaks as in the instance where the material is amorphous, or the pattern may contain peaks in the instance where the material is crystalline, however, the material must exhibit a pattern.

Claims 1, 2, and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by JP 44-00891.

The only relevance provide for JP ‘044 is provided in the International Search Report where it is shown that JP’044 is an ‘X’ reference. Therefore, claims 1, 2, and 4 are rejected over JP ‘044 for whatever reasons were provided by the International Searching Authority.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
